
Dorf Ketal purchases Vertec and Snapcure businesses from Johnson Matthey

Dorf Ketal, a supplier of organic titanate and zirconate catalysts, has acquired patents and related intellectual property for Vertec polyester catalysts and Snapcure polyurethane catalysts and cure promoters from Johnson Matthey.

Dorf Ketal is starting up production in its new Mundra plant in India and expects production to be fully underway by July. The products supplement the company's line of Tyzor organic titanates and zirconates.
