

Sanitized moves forward in the plastic market

The Swiss company Sanitized AG has expanded its services for the growing number of users of antimicrobials in the plastics industry. The company is now offering the direct marketing of its products and services for the plastics market. According to Sanitized, its clients profit from a short time to market and professional consulting over the whole project process.

Furthermore, the company has launched a new product for the foam and coating polyurethane industry: Sanitized TPL 27-40 offers a good antibacterial effect in combination with protection against fungal activity. In addition, it provides an anti dust mites effect and it is wash resistant.
